

Peli talks tough with new iPhone 7 cases

Authored by Anil George | 20/09/2016 | Source T3 Middle East

Share 0 Like 1

Cases offer 23% more impact absorption

Know your HPX from your 810G's? Then you'll appreciate Peli's Adventurer Range of cases for the iPhone 7 and 7 Plus.

Now the brand has long been the chosen accessory of choice for all things tough, from the military to professional broadcasters. Thanks to elements like double throw latches, O-ring seal and automatic pressure equalization valves which keep water out.

So what's special here? For one, the Adventurer range has clear backs to showcase the colour range of the new iPhone models. The cases offer 23% more impact absorption over similar protector models in the market, as they are made from HPX, Peli's proprietary material that has been especially designed to absorb impact and disperse shock forces away from the mobile device. Plus, the Adventurer cases also have a dual-layer structural design, a non-slip grip and exceed 810G Military Standard drop tests. As is standard with Peli, they also carry a Lifetime Guarantee (where applicable by law).

The Adventurer cases for the iPhone 7 and iPhone 7 Plus start at $39.99

Anil George

Avid follower of all things tech. In between his quest for the ultimate gizmo, Anil fiddles with light meters, collects rare books and feeds his fetish for Jap horror movies. As Managing Editor of T3 Middle East for the GCC, Anil oversees content direction across print and digital. He is a CES 2016 Innovation Awards Judge, and was also an Innovation Awards Judge at CES 2015. Reach him at: editor@t3me.com.

@anildotgeorge

0 Comments

Sort by Oldest ▾

Add a comment...