Peli announces iPad case add

Rugged case manufacturer Peli Products is set to add an iPad Mini with Retina model to its 'Vault' line-up in conjunction with the release of the upgraded tablet.

The protective case has a built-in screen protector and is fully sealed to block out rain and dust. It also includes an "aircraft-grade aluminium hinge" to hold the cover, which allows for safe use at multiple viewing angles.

The 'Vault for iPad Mini' case also has a military specifications test-standard rubber interior that absorbs impact forces of up to four feet.

The case will be available from Amazon for £70 in black/grey, magenta and grey/orange.
